BANKING BUSINESS FLASH LIGHTS ARE SHOWS BIG GROWTH TAKEN FROM STORE

Total Sum Handled by Local Institutions Considerably in Excess of That Year Ago.

MANY ACQUIRE HABIT SAVING

Abundance of Money. However, Tends to Operate Against Consistent Saving.

While there has been a remarkable growth in the banking business in Seymour and the total sum of money handled by the three local financial institutions is considerably larger now than a year ago, there seems to be a doubt in the mind of many people if the public is acquiring a consistent, systematic saving habit. There has probably never been a time in the history of the country when the question of systematic saving has received as much attention as at the present. Bankers and others are urging that the public take advantage of the abundance of money in circulation and invest part of their earnings in some manner that will operate to their benefit in case a financial stringency should come in the future.

It is pointed out by those who have made an analysis of the conditions, that should an economic and industrial crisis suddenly strike the nation, the public would find it extremely difficult to go back to the former scale of living because of the season of plenty and prosperity which has been enjoyed during the last four years. They advise that while money is plentiful and wages are high that some of the earnings be set aside regularly so that families and individuals would not suddenly face hardship should a period of "hard times" swept through the country.

W. M. Whitson, president of the Seymour National Bank, is of the opinion that people here are learning the savings habit. He believes that the purchase of Liberty bonds on the installment plan had much to do with the encouragement of systematic saving.

"There are more people doing business with the banks than ever before," he said in an interview today. "I believe that many of the people are acquiring the saving habit. In my opinion the purchase of Liberty bonds had much to do in encouraging saving. During the war many men and women who never before had attempted to save money, wanted to help the government by buying bonds. Some of them did not have the cash for pay for the bonds and borrowed it. Soon they discovered that the bonds were paid for out of their savings without interference with their usual routine of living. The purchase of the first bond on this plan encouraged them to buy others and when the last Liberty bond sale was concluded they sought other methods of saving. Many are saving through the regular channels of banking while others are saving in special accounts and in Christmas savings clubs."

J. H. Andrews, president of the Jackson County Loan & Trust Company, took occasion to emphasize the necessity of systematic saving. "There is more money in the country than ever before and wages are considerably higher," Mr. Andrews said. "The bank accounts are growing rapidly in number and the total deposits are increasing. Undoubtedly many people are saving regularly. Every department of our institution shows an increase, but yet, it cannot be denied that there is much reckless expenditure of money. In my opinion the total amount of money saved in Jackson county is not in proportion to the amount earned."

C. D. Billings, president of the First National Bank, is of the opinion that larger bank deposits come as a result of the abundance of money rather than a tendency of the public to save regularly out of their earnings.

"The bank accounts are increasing both in numbers and amounts," he said. "But there is a strong tendency towards spending. This is explained by the fact that there is more money in circulation. The increased Quantity of Rubber Heels Also Stolen From Fetting & Co.—Glass in Rear Window Smashed.

CLUE GIVEN TO THE POLICE

Thief Takes Time, Testing Batteries and Looking for Box in Which to Carry Away The Loot.

A number of flash lights, batteries and several pairs of rubber heels, the total value of which is estimated between $30 and $40 were stolen Friday night from Fetting & Co.'s store on West Second street. The robbery was discovered this morning when Philip Fetting, one of the owners, opened the place of business. He found a rear window raised, but as the stock was not in disorder he had some difficulty in ascertaining just what was missing.

The theft, it is thought, occurred before 10:30 o'clock. The thief had broken a small panel of glass in the rear window so that he could easily reach the lock. When the catch was thrown back he had little difficulty in raising the window.

The thief evidently took his time in selecting the articles that he wanted. The device with which the batteries for the flash lights are tested was on the counter showing that none but batteries which tested high had been taken. After the flash lights were laid out, the thief selected what he wanted out of the stock of rubber heels, and then proceeded to hunt a box in which to carry away the loot.

A small box was found on the floor showing that he had first selected it and after emptying out the excelsior had discovered that it would not answer his purpose and had discarded it. He then found a box in which small strips of leather are kept and used it to carry away the merchandise.

It is reported that a man appeared at a place of business near the Fetting Company about 10:30 o'clock and offered a flash light for sale. It is reported that he also had several batteries with him. He carried a small box which answered the description of the box taken from the Fetting Company. The evidence in the hands of the proprietors of the store has been turned over to the police. The chances are that if the party makes a confession and returns the goods to the store at once he will be treated much more leniently than if the evidence in the hands of the police is used in apprehending him. In the latter case he would have no grounds to ask for leniency.

SEVERAL CASES OF SMALLPOX AT ACME

School Children Have All Been Ordered to Be Vaccinated at Once.

Between twelve and fifteen cases of smallpox have developed among school children in the Acme neighborhood in Hamilton township. Several of the victims of the epidemic are reported to be critically ill.

Dr. D. J. Cummings, of Brownstown county health officer, has investigated the several cases and pronounced them genuine old fashioned smallpox. All of the school children in the neighborhood have been ordered to be vaccinated at once and if conditions do not improve it is likely that the school will be closed.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF COUNTY DEAD AT SPRAYTOWN

William Brown Passes Away Friday Following Two Weeks' Serious Illness.

William Brown, a pioneer resident of Jackson county died at his home near Spraytown Friday following an illness of two weeks. The deceased was 77 years old.

Besides a widow the deceased is survived by several children together with other relatives and many friends. Mr. Brown was well-known in Salt Creek township where he has spent the greater part of his long life. The funeral service will be held at Spraytown Sunday morning at 10 o'clock conducted by Rev. McCoy, pastor of the Freetown U. B. church.

ENUMERATORS TO LIST LIVE STOCK

Agricultural Figures Will Form Important Section of The Census Report.

OTHER FACTS ARE DESIRED

Farmers May Assist in Making This Feature of Census Accurate and Completed.

An important feature of the census of agriculture now being taken in connection with the fourteenth decennial census in the inventory of live stock on farms. The term live stock as used by the census bureau comprises all the domestic farm animals, together with poultry and bees. Each farmer will be asked to report the number of value of all the domestic animals on his farm on January 1, 1920. The phrase, "on the farm," means regularly kept on the farm. Horses and other animals which are regularly kept on a farm though belonging to some one else, must be reported by the farm operator on whose farm they are kept. Animals which are owned jointly by two or more farmers are to be reported as belonging to the farm where they happen to be on January 1, 1920. In the case of ranchmen using the public domain, animals "on the farm" should be understood to mean all animals belonging to or un-

ART LEAGUE TO MEET IN ADJOURNED SESSION

Meeting Continued on Account of Several Members Being Unable to Attend.

The annual meeting of the Seymour Art League scheduled for Friday evening will be continued until next Thursday evening, January 15 at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting was continued owing to the small attendance of members of the Art League at the Shields high school building last night which is believed due to the fact that many of them attended the third number of the Lyceum course held at the Christian church.

The annual election of officers will be held at the adjourned session and plans will be made for the annual exhibit next spring. Other important matters will come up for consideration at the meeting.

SECOND SEMESTER WILL START ON JANUARY 26

Next Two Weeks of School Will Be Busy Ones For The Students And Teachers.

The first semester of the Seymour public schools will end on Friday, January 23 and the second will start on the following Monday it was announced by Prof. T. A. Mott, superintendent, today. The next two weeks promise to be busy ones for the students and teachers as several tests will be held before the present semester ends.

Several promotions will be made in all classes at the beginning of the new semester. The students will put forth extra efforts during the remaining days of the first semester to pass the special tests that will entitle them to promotion at the beginning of the second semester.

BROWNSTOWN FIVE DEFEATS SEYMOUR

County Seat Team Wins From High School Quintet, 21-16 in Fast Contest.

OBSTRUCTIONS OF THE FLOOR

Madison Game Scheduled for Tonight Postponed Because of Death of Superintendent.

For the first time in the history of high school basketball Brownstown defeated Seymour last night, 21-16, at the county seat. The regularity with which the locals dropped the ball through the basket in preliminary practice indicated S. H. S. would be an easy winner. Brownstown has developed a fast team and has shown steady improvement over past seasons.

The S. H. S. quintet made the first three baskets, then remained checked for the remainder of the half. The county seat basketballers showed great efficiency in dodging the posts just off the center of the floor and passing along the brick wall. The local team did not fancy the obstructions. Brownstown scored five field goals to a foul and three field goals by the local squad, during the first half. The period end 10-7 in favor of Brownstown.

Hopes of victory for the purple and white strengthened the second half. In a very short time the locals tied the score and were forced to repeat this process several times since Brownstown always broke the tie. The county-seat quintet registered a foul and five field goals to three foul and three field goals by

BERGER AGAIN DENIED A SEAT IN CONGRESS

Milwaukee Socialist Loses Place by Vote of 328 to 6—To Be Candidate Again.

By United Press

Washington, Jan. 16—Victor Berger, Milwaukee socialist, convicted under the espionage act was today for the second time in two months excluded from the membership in congress. The vote was 328 to 6 with one member voting "present."

Berger announced his intention of again becoming a candidate in the Fifth district in Wisconsin and expressed his belief that his majority in the next election would greatly exceed that in the last.

"This is the people's fight for their ideals and a principle. They are just as good Americans as Abraham Lincoln and George Washington and the time has come when representation of the people for the people must be demanded," said Berger.

Notice to Debtors.

PALMER IN FAVOR WITH WHITE HOUSE

Wilson Expected by Democratic Chieftains to Name Presidential Candidate.

PRESIDENT SELECTS THE ISSUE

W. J. Bryan, It is Predicted, Will Also Have Candidate Before San Francisco Convention.

By United Press

Washington January 10—Selection of a candidate to head the Democratic ticket is believed to be President Wilson's next problem. Now that he has declared in favor of making the league of nations the big issue at the polls in November, Democrats expect him to plunge into the fight himself, not, however, to the extent of accepting the nomination.

Just at present, A. Mitchell Palmer seems to be in high favor at the White House. But the president will not make up his mind until the campaign gets well under way.

Then when he has picked him may there may be a collision with the forces of W. J. Bryan at the San Francisco convention as Bryan is expected to have a candidate of his own and is expected to make every effort to defeat Wilson's choice.

Bryan, since he disagreed with Wilson on making the treaty an issue, is an outcast, as far as the present officials of the Democratic party are concerned. In their estimation he stands alone an outsider without sufficient influence to threaten Wilson's control. The Democratic organization had been counting on him to stump the west for their candidate but now heads are shaken over the Nebraskan's "sad case." Party leaders hope he will keep quiet. His friends on the other hand insist no candidate can be named at San Francisco without his consent; that he care nothing for the frowns of party officials, as he believes the people will back him up. Bryan has an extensive schedule of speeches, beginning in Georgia January 19 and lasting well into the summer. His side of the case will be laid before the voters in these addresses.

Wilson did not throw the treaty into the campaign until reports from all over the country convinced him the nation demands ratification, it was learned. When the senate blocked the treaty, the White House settled down to a period of "watchful waiting," the president believing a great urge for acceptance would develop. Now that this is gaining momentum, in the belief of administration officials, the time is opportune to seize upon it as the big issue between Republicans and Democrats. In 1916 the campaign slogan was "he kept us out of war" and Wilson won. In 1920 the slogan appears likely to be "the league of nations will keep us out of war." Democrats are counting on the women rallying to this cause. Their vote will be sufficient to insure victory, party leaders believe. Furthermore, they expect the treaty issue will win many

TREATY OF PEACE IS RATIFIED TODAY

Ceremony Takes Place Late Today in Clock Room of French Foreign Office.

GERMANS FIRST TO SIGN

United States Ambassador Did Not Participate in Ceremony—Protocol Signed.

BULLETIN Inaugural Meeting of League.

Paris, January 10—The supreme council today fixed the date for the inaugural meeting of the league of nations as January 16 at 10:30 a. m.

By United Press
Paris, January 10—Peace became effective at 4:11 p. m. today when allied and German representatives exchanged ratifications of the treaty of Versailles.

Previous to the exchange of ratifications, the Germans signed the protocol covering enforcement of the terms. American Ambassador Wallace was not present.

Premier Clemenceau in closing the session said:

"The protocol ending the armistice has been signed. Ratifications have been exchanged and the treaty is effective immediately."

Following the ceremony several of the allied delegates bowed to the Germans, but did not shake hands with them.

The procedure in today's ceremonies, were as follows:

At 4 o'clock the German and allied representatives met in the French foreign office where Baron Von Lersner and Herr Von Simson signed the protocol, fixing the compensation to be paid by Germany for the sinking of the Scapa Flow fleet.

Next the various nations filed certificates of ratification of the treaty and sign the formes proces-verbal of ratification, putting the long argued Versailles pact into effect.

The entire work of cleaning up the duties of the peace conference was being speeded up as never before. At yesterday's conferences of the big three, it was understood, Premiers Nitti and Lloyd George presented their proposed solution for the Fiume problem. Premier Clemenceau, it was understood, gave his approval.

The French particularly have emphasized the need for haste, as the present cabinet expires January 17 and desires to leave the scene with a clean slate. The new cabinet, it was believed, will wish to adopt new policies on many questions and the present government does not wish to act until the treaty is a reality.

Criterion Quartet.

A musical treat of unusual character was presented by the Criterion Quartet at the Central Christian church last evening as the third number of the lyceum course which is given by the City Ministerial Association. Every member of the Quartet is an artist and the individual as well as the ensemble numbers brought genuine applause from an appreciative audience. The Ministerial Association received many congratulations under bringing this company to Seymour.

WILSON OR BRYAN?

The action of the Democratic national committee at the Jackson Day banquet in endorsing the treaty of peace and the league of nations exactly as they were presented by President Wilson is not surprising. The committee is the President's own organization, and certainly if that body had refused to accept his suggestions there would be no possible chance of his continued leadership of the Democratic party.

But the expression of the Democratic national committee is not necessarily the attitude of the rank and file of the Democratic party. The league of nations and peace treaty have not been questions of partisan politics. Some of the most prominent Republicans of the country have taken the Wilson view, while many of the leading Democrats believe in certain reservations. William Jennings Bryan, who suddenly reappeared as a factor in Democratic politics and whose influence undoubtedly must be reckoned with in the 1920 campaign, analyzes the situation more clearly than does the President. Despite the President's message to the Jackson Day dinner, Mr. Bryan plainly tells the committeemen that, in his opinion, reservations are highly desirable.

The President in endeavoring to throw the treaty of peace into the coming national election, evidently takes the ground that the Republicans are opposed to the treaty. Mr. Bryan declares that what the public wants is the treaty ratified, and calls upon his party to accomplish that even if it is required to accept certain reservations. Mr. Bryan, we believe, is closer to the public on this point than the President. It is conceded that the public wants the treaty made effective, but a very considerable portion of the American population favors reservations. They desire them because they believe that they will better protect American principles and American interests than the sections presented by the President.

President Wilson evidently wishes to make the treaty a campaign issue. The Republican senators who have stood so firmly for reservations can very easily explain their action. They will be supported by some Democratic senators who have voted with them. The treaty will be accepted by the Republicans as a campaign issue. But in delaying action now the responsibility must rest entirely upon the President. He has laid down the law to the senators of his own party at a time when an acceptable compromise was in sight. The President alone has prevented an early passage of the treaty. Thus this issue would go into the campaign not as one of acceptance or rejection, but merely whether or not the President's wording will be accepted.

Now that a split is threatened in the Democratic party over the ratification of the treaty with and without reservations, the Democratic newspapers which have consistently contended that delayed action on the pact was due to Republican politics will have a difficult time in making explanations.

In announcing dividends of 8 per cent. and an additional surplus account of almost $4,000,000, the president of the Swift Company says "we have done fairly well." Yep, that looks like you done pretty good, Louis.

Salary and Wages Must Be Considered in Filing Return

The man or woman whose income is from salary or wages has several things to consider in making out his or her income-tax return. The full amount received for personal services must be returned as gross income. Direct expenses incurred in earning his compensation, however, are allowable deductions. For example, a traveling man selling on commission may deduct his railroad fare and amounts paid for hire of vehicles in calling on his customers as a "business expense," but not his hotel board, which is a personal or living expense.

Salaries must be reported as income for the year in which they are received, regardless of when they are earned. Thus, a man who is paid on the 5th of the month and received his salary for the month of December, 1918, on January 5, 1920, need not include the amount in his return for 1919. His salary for December, 1919, which is not received until January 5, 1920, need not be included in his 1919 income, although it was entirely earned during that year.

A salary or commission credited to an account and subject to withdrawal must be included as income. Bonuses or any form of profit sharing must be included, since they are additional compensation for services. A Christmas gift, or other present from an employer is not taxable.

Compensation for personal services may be paid for partly in cash and partly in board and lodging. In this event, a fair value must be placed upon the room and meals, and the amount reported as income by the employee.

Salaries of officers and employees of a State, county, or municipal government are exempt from taxation. The exemption does not extend to Federal employees and employees of the government of the District of Columbia.

Compensation for personal services paid to directors and trustees of a corporation or society which itself is exempt from taxation is taxable income to the recipients. Witnesses in law suits are not employees of a State, and the fees received by such witnesses are subject to taxation.

Tips to porters, waiters, etc., are not regarded as a gift but as compensation for services rendered, and must be included in the returns of persons by whom received.

Money paid under a marriage settlement is a gift, and not taxable. Neither alimony nor allowance based on a separation is taxable income, though if such funds are invested the income derived from such sources must be reported for taxation.

"THE GIRL WHO CAME BACK"

Adapted from "Leak Kleschna"
By C. M. S. McClennan

A Paramount Picture

Reared from Girlhood with a Torch in one hand and a Revolver in the other.

If a man breaks into a house at dead of night he expects, if discovered, to meet with a pretty hot reception. But if the cracksmen sends his pretty daughter instead and the son of the house comes down in his dressing gown and finds the intruder's slender fingers toying with the family pearls what's the upshot then, particularly if the girl is as attractive as Ethel Clayton?

Her greatest Character Role
"LOVE AND THE WOMAN"

Miss Elvidge plays two distinctive roles in the most remarkable way ever witnessed. The chambermaid in a cheap hotel wanted her little daughter to have all the good things of life. So, when the opportunity presented itself, she substituted her own infant for the baby daughter of a rich man. What happened to the little girl when she grew up?

BANKING BUSINESS

bank deposits, in my opinion, are due more largely to the abundance of ready money rather than to a general tendency towards consistent, systematic saving. During the last four years many people who never before had bank accounts have money on deposit now. Some of these, of course are the result of saving from earnings. Others are due to the mere fact that there is more money. As a general rule I doubt if there is any more consistent saving now than four years ago."

PALMER IN FAVOR

WITH WHITE HOUSE

Republican ballots, pointing out that when Wilson toured the country last September Republicans predominated on some of the committees of welcome.

There was much gossip today about likelihood of Bryan starting a party of his own. This was based on his declaration, in his speeches Thursday night that if the Democratic party did not do its duty, a new party would arise "to take care of the people."

Again, when there was hooting in the banquet hall, he shouted that he would go out and talk to six or seven million people throughout the country "even if I am not listened to here."

GREAT ACTIVITY FOR COMPROMISE DISPLAYED

Republican and Democratic Senators Hard at Work on an Acceptable Compromise.

By United Press

Washington, Jan. 10—Feverish activity for a treaty compromise was displayed today by both Republican and Democratic senators. At no time since the present session began have there been so many "conferences" on the treaty.

Senator Kendrick's author of the recently submitted Democratic reservations was also active. Senator McNary, Colt and McCumber, mild reservation leaders, were also busy. At the same time Joseph P. Folk, recently host to W. J. Bryan at a dinner attended by Democratic senators here, appeared at the capitol and announced "that a powerful movement" has begun to have Bryan's advice accepted by the Democrats resulting in a surrender to the Lodge reservations. Also Senator Hiram Johnson, "bitter ender" returned to Washington to take an active part in mapping out a campaign.

Senator Borah was preparing a letter to General Wood like the one he recently addressed to Governor Lowden asking Wood how he stands on the eagle of nations.

"Bringing Up Father."

Funny Old Man Jiggs and militant Maggie, his wife, featured in McManus' famous cartoon series, will be the central characters in a musical comedy under the name of "Bringing Up Father in Society," which will appear at the Majestic theater Monday and Tuesday. The company completes a week's stand at the Jefferson Theater in Louisville tonight, going there from Chicago. One week from Monday the company returned to Chicago for a return engagement. The comedy is everything and then some, that its name implies. A beauty chorus of thirty girls furnishes the musical "hits" for the program. The show undoubtedly is one of the best that has ever been brought here and the Majestic management is arranging to accommodate capacity houses at each presentation. The program is a scream from the time the curtain rises until the final number is sung by the chorus. Press dispatches speak of the show in the highest terms of commendation.

The Man Nobody Knew

is a serial of a different kind. It follows our policy to present the best in current fiction, each story dealing with a phase of life unlike the others. Authors with a talent for presenting in a wholesome, entertaining way unusual situations and odd, original plots have been selected. Such an author, standing well near the top among contemporaries, is

Holworthy Hall

Suppose among your casual acquaintances were a man wearing a different face—not a disguise—speaking a different voice, acting and living a changed personality, whom you discover to be actually someone you formerly had known intimately. Would you not be amazed and mystified? Such is the situation in "The Man Nobody Knew," excepting that the reader holds the secret. You see him in his former identity wherein he was a failure, with record not too savory. You follow him in his changed character going among the same people with all his old proclivities and temptations, yet patiently redeeming the past, making good. His experiences and adventures are remarkable and he has the oddest, most difficult problem ever placed before a man. It especially concerns the girl who had refused him in his former life.

SNAPPY AIR.....

Some people go south to escape the Hoosiers' winters; others remain at home and use Nyal toilet creams against the snappy Hoosier air. Thus both are enabled to enjoy the winter months each after his own fashion. Nyal remedies are wonderful help-mates at all seasons, and are wholly dependable.

to a basketball team is demonstrated day after day. The local floor is far from regulation size and a new gymnasium would be entirely welcomed by the players. A means of bringing about such a change is as yet undetermined. The locals are "all dolled up" in classy new suits and their only desire is a new gym.

Notice was received yesterday that the superintendent of public schools at Madison had died and asked the postponement of the Seymour trip to that city. Accordingly the next game will be with the fast Columbus aggregation at the place next Saturday.

The Bartholomew county lads defeated the locals here, 22-11, the second of the S. H. S. schedule. The purple and white have shown great improvement since then and are practicing hard with a determination to win. Columbus plays Martinsville the night before they meet the local quintet and this should aid S. H. S. in scoring a victory.

Summary of the game last night follows:

EQUIP YOUR CAR WITH A Universal Radiator Shutter

To drive an automobile without some method of keeping cold drafts away from the engine and radiator is just as wasteful of fuel as trying to warm a house in zero weather with all the windows and doors open.

The gasoline burned in the cylinders of the engine is the only source of heat. "THE UNIVERSAL RADIATOR SHUTTER" affords the only means of conserving this heat.

The longer the engine is kept hot and the fewer number of times it is started from or in a cold condition, the greater reduction you can effect in gasoline bills. That's just what you can do with a "UNIVERSAL RADIATOR SHUTTER." And it is easily controlled from the seat. No special tools or experience required to install shutter.

HOOVER DISCUSSES SUGAR SITUATION

Former Federal Food Administrator Says American Public has Already Been Milked for $720,000,000.

Discussing the increased and increasing price of sugar, Herbert Hoover, former federal food administrator, and recognized as one of the ablest men developed during the great war, and perhaps without a peer as an economic authority, said recently:

"Every cent of increase in the price of sugar means an additional bill of $80,000,000, to the American people. The increase in sugar prices to date has cost a total of $720,000,000 to the consuming public."

"The prospect of soaring sugar prices has been brought about by the failure of the government to act on the recommendation of the sugar equalization board last summer that the Cuban crop of 1919-20 be purchased as the crop of the preceding year had been. That crop was bought by the government at 5½ cents a pound. The Cuban producers at first offered to sell this year at 6 cents a pound. Two letters from the equalization board to President Wilson brought no results and the Cuban producers withdrew their offer and threw open crop to the world with the resultant climb in prices."

Mr. Hoover thinks the retail price of Cuban sugar will go to 20 cents a pound and may be higher. On this basis of an increase of one cent a pound amounting to $80,000,000, the twenty-cent price which is inevitable will amount to a total of $800,000,000 more the people must pay in one year for sugar than would have been necessary if the advice of Mr. Hoover and the equalization board had been accepted and followed by President Wilson.—Indiana Grocer.

Mrs. Edith Kennedy of Brownstown, returned to her home today after a short visit with Mrs. Ira McConnell.

Ed Schobert, of the county line, was in Seymour today on business.

Leo Richard, of the county line, was a business visitor here today.

der the care of the ranchman for whom the schedule is prepared.

On the schedule which the census bureau will use, domestic animals of each kind are to be classified according to age and sex.

Thus the inquiry relating to horses will show both the number and the total value of the following classes:

1. Colts under 1 year of age.

2. Colts 1 year old and under 2 years of age.

3. Mares 2 years old and over.

4. Geldings 2 years old and over.

5. Stallions 2 years old and over.

Similar information will be obtained for each of the other kinds of domestic animals, so that from the reports which the Census Bureau will publish one may easily ascertain the kind, the number by age and sex, and the value of all live stock on farms on Jan. 1, 1920, not only for the United States as a whole, but also for each state and county.

Cattle are to be classified further as beef or dairy cattle according to the principal purpose for which they are kept. Cows which are regularly milked for three months or more during the year, the milk or its products being used for human food, will ordinarily be reported as dairy cows; and the calves and bulls which would naturally be classified with such cows, will also be reported as dairy cattle.

These classifications are of importance from a statistical and an economic standpoint, because of the very intimate relation between the number and kind of animals and the food supply of the country. The figures to be obtained will show not only the present animal resources of the country, but will also furnish a basis for comparisons with the numbers of animals reported in previous censuses, running so far back even as 1850.

The farmer's part will be to supply accurate information about the animals on just one farm—his farm.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcine mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffing, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and snuff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

We must have been half an hour in covering the distance. The cabin stood well up above the stream, within the shade of the great oak, and we were confirmed, long before we reached it, in our former judgment that it was uninhabited. No sign of life was visible about the place; it had the appearance of desertion, no smoke even curling from out the chimney. A faint trail, evidently little used, led down toward the creek, and we followed this as it wound around the base of the big tree. Then it was that the truth dawned suddenly upon us—there to our right lay a dead mule, harnessed for work, but with throat cut; while directly in front of the cabin door was a dog, an ugly, massive brute, his mouth open, prone on his back, with stiffened legs pointing to the sky. I dropped my rein, and strode forward. "Wait where you are," I called back. "There have been savages here; let me see first what has happened inside."

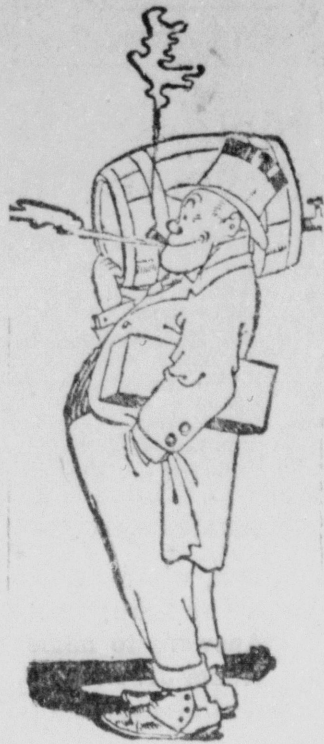

The dog had been shot, stricken by two bullets, and I was obliged to drag his huge body to one side before I could press my way in through the door. The open doorway and window afforded ample light, and a single glance was sufficient to reveal most of the story. The table had been smashed as by the blow of an ax, and pewter dishes were everywhere. The bed in one corner had been stripped of its coverlets, many of them slashed by a knife, and the straw tick had been ripped open in a dozen places. Coals from the fireplace lay wide-spread, some of them having eaten deeply into the hard wood before they ceased smoldering.

I saw all this, yet my eyes rested upon something else. A man lay, bent double across an overturned bench, in a posture which hid his face from view. His body was there alone, although a child's shoe lay on the floor, and a woman's linsey dress dangled from a hook against the wall. I crept forward, my heart pounding madly, until I could gain sight of his face. He was a big fellow, not more than thirty, with sandy hair and beard, and a pugnacious jaw, his coarse hickory shirt slashed into ribbons, a bullet wound in the center of his forehead, and one arm broken by a vicious blow. His calloused hands yet gripped the haft of an ax, just as he had died—fighting.

Tim's voice spoke from the doorway. "Injuns, I reckon?" "Yes, they have been here; the man is dead. But there must have been others, a woman and child also—see that shoe on the floor, and the dress hanging over there. The poor devil fought hard."

Kennedy stepped inside, staring about him. "Do you think it best to stop here?" "Why not? 'Tain't likely them devils will be back agin. That sure must be somethin' fer us ter eat in the place, an' the Lord kno's we can't go on as we are. Them gurls be mighty nigh ready ter drop, an' two o' the hosses has plum giv' out. I'm fer settin' down fer a few hours anyhow—say till it gits middling dark."

Undoubtedly this was the sensible view. We would be in far less danger remaining there under cover than in any attempt to continue our journey by daylight. Together we carried the body out, and deposited it in a thicket behind the cabin, awaiting burial; and then dragged the dead dog also out of sight. The disorder within was easily remedied, and, after this had been attended to, the girls were permitted to enter. Eloise sank back on the bench, her head supported against the wall, the lashes of her half-closed eyes showing dark against the whiteness of her cheeks. She looked so pitifully tired, the very heart choked in my throat.

"Hello, Father! Where did you get it?" Come and see "Bringing Up Father" Monday and Tuesday at MAJESTIC THEATRE

The rest of us found a small stock of provisions, and Elsie, with Tim to aid her, built a fire and prepared breakfast. A half-filled bottle of whisky discovered in the cupboard, helped to revive all of us slightly, and gave Asa sufficient courage to seek outside for a spring. Tim, comparatively unwarmed himself, and restless, located a trapdoor in the floor, rather ingeniously concealed, which disclosed the existence of a small cellar below. Candle in hand he explored this, returning with two guns, together with a quantity of powder and ball, and information that there remained a half keg of the explosive hidden below.

"Must a bin abain' ter blow up stumps, I reckon," he commented, exhibiting a sample. "Coarsest I ever saw; couldn't hardly use that in no gun, but it's powder alright."

To remove the debris out of our way, I was gathering up the straw tick and old blankets, and piled them all together back on the bed. Clinging to one of the blankets, caught and held by its pin, was a peculiar emblem, and I stood for a moment with it in my hand, curiously examining the odd design. Eloise unclosed her eyes, and started to her feet.

"What is that you have?" she asked. "A pin of some kind—a rather strange design; I just found it here, entangled in this blanket."

"Why," she exclaimed in surprise, "I have seen one exactly like it before—Kirby wore it in his tie."

TWO CASES SET DOWN FOR TRIAL ON MONDAY

No Court Held at Court House in Brownstown Today—Busy Week Predicted.

The cases of the state of Indiana vs. Samuel Allman and Calvin Baker, each charged with failing to keep their children in school, are set down for trial in the Jackson circuit court Monday. The charges were filed against the two men by Samuel B. Moore, county trustee officer. The two men reside near Surprise. It is alleged that the men have been failing to properly provide their children with books and clothing. Several other similar cases have been filed by the trustee officer which will come to trial in circuit court next week.

The coming week, which will be the last of the December term of Jackson circuit court, promises to be an exceptionally busy one. Several minor cases have been set down for trial which will require the court's time for the entire week and it is likely that some will be carried over to the February term. No court was held at Brownstown today.

Mrs. Maggie Kinworthy of Indianapolis, was called to Brownstown today on account of the critical illness of her father, Sam Hutton.

Miss Esther Stott, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. Mead Downs and family, left Friday for her home at Champaign, Ill.

YOUR EYES DO MORE THAN EARN YOUR LIVING

Your eyes earn your living—but they do more. They are more than "the windows of the soul;" they are the doors through which nature sends her messages to the mind; they are the portals through which enter the messages of life itself. The eyes are your greatest source of comfort, of inspiration, of happiness. Without them—and their marvelous function of sight—man loses his most precious physical possession.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES ARE PREPARING ANNUAL REPORTS

Several Statements are Ready for Publication as Required by Law.

Township trustees in Jackson county are completing their reports for the year 1919. The reports will show the various amounts received during the year and the amounts spent and according to the law must be published in full in two county newspapers.

Some of the trustees have completed their reports and have them in the hands of newspaper publishers ready to be set up for the papers. All of the trustees will have their reports completed within the next few days.

Mrs. Charles Walters and son, James, are spending the week-end in Cincinnati, the guests of A. L. Walters and family.

THURSDAY MAY BE DATE FOR SESSION

Enough Legislators. It is Thought,
Will File Pledges by Monday
To Insure Session.

TENTATIVE PLANS ARE MADE

Legislature to Convene, Consider Suffrage Amendment Resolution and Adjourn.

By United Press

Indianapolis, January 10—All indications today that the Indiana legislature will be convened in extraordinary session next Thursday to ratify the suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

It became known that Governor
Goodrich in conference with woman suffrage leaders of the state agreed to call the session during the latter part of next week. Thursday was set tentatively as the date because, it was thought that enough legislators will have pledged themselves to a limited session by Monday evening to warrant the calling of the session.

The plan is to have the legislature meet Thursday morning, open as in regular business, introduce a resolution in each house, ratify the amendment, suspend the rules and pass it, and then adjourn.
